Guest Speaker: Dr Nora Amath, Humanitarian,
 State Finalist Australian of the Year 2017

Building bridges is what Dr Nora Amath does best. Born in Vietnam, Nora belongs to the Cham people, a Muslim minority. Nora and her family fled their homeland when she was just four, after facing persecution from the communist regime. Finding refuge in the United States, and later settling in Australia, Nora has become an internationally respected expert in Islamic studies. Passionate about human rights Nora draws on her academic insight to share stories of the Muslim world, and to enhance interfaith understanding between all people. Nora has also served on many boards and committees, has founded women's shelters and youth groups and helped develop the first Muslim playgroup for mums in Brisbane. She's helped refugees learn leadership skill, published books, obtained a PhD, all the while raising three children. The chairperson of the Australian Muslim Advocates for the Rights of All Humanity, Nora is also the Board secretary for Islamic Relief Australia the largest Islamic humanitarian aid agency in the world.
